2023 Pi Sigma Epsilon National Convention Competition Winners!

National Speakers Competition

This competition showcases the top public speaking talent in the fraternity. The competition recognizes outstanding student members who have mastered skills in the areas of self-presentation and verbal communication by making a public speaking presentation in a competitive setting.

First Place: Ben Thompson, University of Toledo

Second Place: AJ Cross, Metropolitan State University of Denver
Pro-Am Sell-A-Thon® National Convention Winners

First Place: Kayli Kalish, Central Michigan University

Second Place: Taylor Dodson, Metropolitan State University of Denver

Third Place: Emily Moeller, University of Toledo

Fourth Place: Aysha Hassan, Central Michigan University

Fifth Place: Yesenia Angeles-Espinoza, University of South Dakota
First Place: Taylor Dodson, Metropolitan State University of Denver

Second Place: Kyleigh Golightly, Central Michigan University

Third Place: Kayli Kalish, Central Michigan University

Fourth Place: Emily Moeller, University of Toledo

Fifth Place: Sia Anand, The College of New Jersey
First Place: Cooper Albright, Virginia Commonwealth University

Second Place: Stuart Moss, Utah State University

Second Place: Jackie Lin, Kent State University

Third Place: Grant Baxla, Miami University
Interview Competition

First Place: Emily Frantz, The Ohio State University

Second Place: Audrey Millet, University of Florida

Third Place: Andrew Paule, University of Toledo

MikesBikes Competition

First Place: Indiana University, Epsilon Omicron

Second Place: Virginia Tech, Epsilon Delta

Third Place: University of Florida, Eta